GUIDE TO THE USE OF THE ENCYCLOPEDIA AMERICANA INDEX

Proper use of this Index is essential if the reader is to find the information he is seeking. A few minutes spent in reading this guide will save time and trouble in locating the desired information.

BASIC PRINCIPLES

The entry is the basic unit of the Index. It includes a heading, and it may include sub-heads and see also cross references. The heading stands at the beginning of the entry and determines its alphabetical position. It is followed by the volume and page number that will lead the searcher to the best general information on the subject. Subheads, which lead to more particular information, are listed in alphabetical order below the heading. See also cross references are used to direct the searcher to other entries that are related to the heading.

The Index has three types of entries: (1) Article title entries. The headings of these entries are set in boldface capital letters and are followed by volume and page numbers indicating where the article appears in the encyclopedia.

Examples:

BASKET 3:319
CROMWELL, Oliver 8:237

(2) Entries on subjects for which there are no articles, but which are covered in other articles. The headings of these entries are set in boldface capital and lowercase letters.

Examples:

Basque language 3:332
Base drum 9:422

(3) See cross references, which refer the reader from one Index entry to another. They are used for synonyms, pseudonyms, and abbreviations; for inverted headings; and for alternative spellings or forms.

Examples:

Isle of Man (Ir. Sea). See Man.
Isle of NASA. See National Aeronautics
and Space Administration
Petrograd (USSR). See Leningrad

See also cross references direct the reader to related entries or to specific subdivisions of long entries.

Examples:

CALVIN, John (Fr. ref.) 5:237.
See also Calvinism
TAXONOMY (biol.) 26:324. See also Animal—Classification;
Plant—Classification
TRANSPORTATION 27:20. See also Carriages; Motor transportation; Railroads;
Roads and Highways

• ALPHABETIZATION AND ARRANGEMENT OF ENTRIES

The headings of the entries are arranged in alphabetical order by letter. Thus headings beginning with "New" as a separate word (such as New Canaan or New York) are interfiled with headings beginning with "New—" (such as Newark or Newburgh).

GUIDE TO THE USE OF THE AMERICANA INDEX

Inverted headings are alphabetized down to the punctuation mark. Then alphabetization is determined by the word or words following the punctuation mark.

Examples:

FILTER, Electric
FILTER, Mechanical
FILTER, Photographic

Abbreviations and abbreviated forms are treated as one word.

Examples:

ABBREVIATIONS
ABC POWERS
ABD AL-AZIZ IV

UFFIZI
UFO
UGANDA

Headings such as titles of books, works of art, and films are alphabetized under the second word if the first word is an article ("a," "an," "the").

Examples:

American Dream, The AMERICAN TRAGEDY, An

Red Room, The Red Snowball Tree, The

However, a preposition at the beginning of a title is treated as the first word and is not inverted.

Examples:

Inbreeding
INCA
In Cold Blood
IN MEMORIAM

Oestrus
OF HUMAN BONDAGE
OF MICE AND MEN
OMUTA
Ona
On First Principles

Non-English personal surnames are generally alphabetized with the connective inverted.

Examples:

BEETHOVEN, Ludwig van
Cunha, Euclides da
MAUPASSANT, Guy de

Names beginning with "M," "Mac," and "Mc" are alphabetized as they are spelled.

Examples:

MABINOIGION
MACAULAY, Thomas Babington
MacDIARMID, Hugh MADISON, Ind.
MARMOT
Mbuti
McHENRY, James
McWILLIAMS, Carey
MEDICI, Lorenzo de'

Saints are generally listed under their first names.

Examples:

FRANCIS OF ASSISI, Saint
GENEVIEVE, Saint
VINCENT DE PAUL, Saint

However, if saints are commonly referred to by a surname, they are alphabetized under that name.

Examples:

BOSCO, Saint John
FISHER, Saint John

Numerals at the beginning of a heading are treated as though spelled out.

Examples:

Twentieth Century Views
24-hour system
Twenty-one

Literary characters are entered under their last names.

Examples:

Dooley, Mr.
EULENSPIEGEL, Titi

But titles of literary works are entered under the first word even when the first word is a given name or a title.

Examples:

Mrs. Dalloway (nov., Woolf)
Sir Charles Grandison (nov., Richardson)
TOM SAWYER (nov., Twain)

The abbreviations "Mr." and "Mrs." are alphabetized as though they were spelled "Mister" and "Mistress."

Examples:

Mist
Mr. Midshipman Easy
Mrs. Dalloway
MISTRIAL

Persons with the same surname and given name are alphabetized by nationality. If the nationality is also the same, they are alphabetized by occupation; if the occupation is also the same, they are listed in order of birth and death dates.

Examples:

DUMMER, Jeremiah (Amer. silversmith, 1645-1718)
DUMMER, Jeremiah (Amer. col. agent, 1679-1739)

Cities and towns of the same name are alphabetized according to country, except for those in the United States and Canada, which are alphabetized by state or province.

Examples:

ALEXANDRIA (Egy.)
ALEXANDRIA (La.)
ALEXANDRIA (Ont., Can.)
ALEXANDRIA (Va.)

BATHURST (Austr.)
Bathurst (The Gambia)
BATHURST (N.B., Can.)

• ILLUSTRATIONS AND MAPS

Illustrations and maps on numbered pages are referred to by volume and page number. Color illustrations and maps on unnumbered pages are located by reference to the volume numbers and the titles of the articles in which they appear.

Examples:

AMUNDSEN, Roald (Nor. expl.)
 1:768, 10:787
Illus. 2:33
dirigible 10:787
Map(s)
routes 2:ANTARCTICA; 2:ARCTIC; 10:775

JET ENGINE (aero.) 16:47;
 23:602, 604
Illus. 10:ENGINE; 15:INTERNAL-COMBUSTION ENGINE

• SPECIAL PAGING PRACTICES

Sometimes when extra pages have been added to the encyclopedia, a letter of the alphabet has been added to the page number both on the page itself and in the Index reference to it. For example, the reader will find pages in volume 29 numbered in order: 741, 741a, 741b, 741c 742. This will be shown in the Index references to those pages as: 29:741, 741a, 741b, 741c 742. In several places in the encyclopedia, there are "telescoped" pages. In volume 7, for example, pages are numbered consecutively: 545, 546, 547-559, 560, 561. However, in the Index, the reference to page 547-559 appears as 7:547, only the first number being given.
